
ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

The Third International Conference of Environmental Enforcement in Oaxaca, Mexico, was made possible by the personal and financial contributions of many organizations and individuals. An Executive Planning Committee (EPC), whose membership is listed in these Proceedings, provided leadership and direction in the design of the program, selection of the speakers and topic experts, and identification of individuals from a range of nations who would be in the best positions to share practical experience in environmental enforcement and to improve or develop domestic compliance and enforcement programs. The Executive Planning Committee included representatives from U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (U.S. EPA), the Netherlands Ministry of Housing, Spatial Planning and the Environment (VROM), the World Wildlife Fund U.S. (WWF), United Nations Environment Program (UNEP IE/PAC), Mexico's Procuraduría Federal de Protección al Ambiente (SEDESOL), and Environment Ministries of Canada, Chile, Costa Rica, Venezuela, Jamaica, Nigeria, and Indonesia.

The World Wildlife Fund U.S. served as the umbrella organization for conference funding and organization. Funding of the conference logistics, planning, and workshop development was provided by the conference sponsors: U.S. EPA, VROM, UNEP IE/PAC, and WWF. In addition to the conference sponsors, funding of participants was gratefully received from Environment Canada for participants from Africa and Asia, and from the U.S. Asia Environmental Partnership to participants from Asia. The U.S. Agency for International Development also contributed to preparation of the Principles of Environmental Enforcement workshop and technical support documents. Special hospitality also was graciously offered by the government of Mexico as host country. In particular, we want to offer a note of thanks to Mr. Arturo Alcocer for his generous support, his time and effort on behalf of SEDESOL, to make this conference a success, and to the Oaxaca City Tourism Office and Cantera Tours for their assistance and support in planning the conference logistics.

A centerpiece of this conference was the launching of several new international workshops. A special acknowledgement to the World Wildlife Fund subcontractors Apogee Research (Ken Rubin, Principal; Rick Sturgess; and Mark Corrales), and TLI Systems (Matt Low, Principal; Tiffin Shewmake; and Marda Mayo) for the development of the five new Principles of Environmental Enforcement Workshop case studies and technical support documents with the primary technical support of Ms. Cheryl Wasserman and other reviewers from the EPC and U.S. EPA. Special recognition for the development of the UNEP IE/PAC workshop manual and training materials go to VROM/UNEP subcontractors PRC Environmental Management Inc. (Firouz Rouani, Principal; Sue Patterson; Andy Johnson; and Mark Evans), under the direction of Jacqueline Aloisi de Lardere and Rob Glasser and Jo Gerardu of VROM in cooperation with U.S. EPA and an Advisory Group including Dr. Rene Altamirano, SEDESOL, Mexico; Dr. Ossama El-Kholy, Egypt; Mme. Odile Gauthier Natta, Ministère de l'Environnement, France; Mr. Jo Gerardu, VROM, the Netherlands; Mr. Rob Glaser, VROM, the Netherlands; Mr. Zbigniew Kamiński, State Inspectorate for Environmental Protection, Poland; Mrs. Jacqueline Aloisi de Lardere and Ms. Nancy Bennett, UNEP, IE/PAC; Mr. Sun Li, Environmental Law Institute/PAC; and Ms. Cheryl Wasserman, U.S. EPA.

Finally, a note of thanks to the conference speakers, topic experts, moderators, facilitators, and rapporteurs, and those who volunteered to prepare papers, all of whom are colleagues making a special effort to share their experiences and help facilitate our exchanges at the conference. Special thanks to those contributing materials for the conference exhibits, and to EPA's Region 6 staff in Dallas, Texas, for the display on inspection equipment.

Primary staff support to the Executive Planning Committee and to the World Wildlife Fund was provided by Mr. Jo Gerardu of VROM and Ms. Cheryl Wasserman of U.S. EPA who were responsible for creating and staffing the Executive Planning Committee, drafting the conference program and materials, editing the proceedings, and preparing concluding remarks. Nancy Hopps (WWF), María Malavé (U.S. EPA), and Jo Gerardu (VROM) served as project managers under the funding agreements. A special note of appreciation for the excellent support for complex EPC meeting and conference logistics, assistance to the EPC in researching possible candidates for conference participant invitations, communications with officials from over 100 countries and organizations, and preparation of the proceedings for publication, directed by WWF subcontractor Eastern Research Group, Inc. (Ms. Trisha Hasch, Principal).
